facturing plants of any kind in the territory, and has a capacity of upwards of 50 million cans per year. Its output for this present season will amount to about 35,000,000 cans.

Practically all the pineapple canneries in the territory obtain their supply of cans from this local branch of the can "trust," the Haleiuga Fruit & Packing Company of Maui being at present the only exception. This company still makes its own cans. In the past one or two other packers also made their own cans, but have since found it more advantageous to buy their containers.

Scouts idea of "Trust."
Mr. Morton, while admitting that his concern is a very large one, scents the idea that it can ever be held to be a combination restraining trade. He declares that there are many independent can manufacturers in California, and that his company does not control patents indispensable to the business. In fact, he says, there are a number of "independent" can-making machines which rank very close in efficiency with those of his company and which are in use in various places.

The American Can Company administers its business through a number of divisions, the local branch being a part of what is known as the Pacific Division.
Manager Morton, before coming to Honolulu some seven years ago, was connected with the San Francisco factories of the company. He is not personally acquainted with the big eastern heads through which the general business is administered.

Huge Capitalization.
The can company was capitalized at $38,000,000, of which $32,400,000 is outstanding, equally divided between preferred and common stock. The preferred, which is a 7 per cent cumulative, did not for several years pay full dividends, but on January 1 of this year the company paid off 24 per cent in back dividends, thus accumulated, leaving only a 1 per cent still to be made up. It has a funded debt of $14,000,000. Nearly 40 factories are now owned by the company, located in the United States and Canada, with one in the Hawaiian Islands.

The suit was filed in Baltimore November 29 in the United States district court.

Hundreds of suffragettes are pouring into Washington to attend the 45th convention of the American National Suffrage Association. An effort will be made to have President Wilson declare himself.

The former Anna Gould, now the wife of Duc de Talleyrand-Perigord, has just paid $4000 more to settle the claim of a money-lender. The Duc has settled over $400,000 worth of debts since his marriage.

With great enthusiasm, the 45th annual convention of the National American Suffrage Association was called to order in Washington by Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the organization.

It is said that Russia is protesting against the proposed sending of a German military commission to reorganize the Turkish army.

Give her a Westinghouse Toaster Stove

It costs no more than a big box of candy or a bunch of roses and will be a source of delight to her years after the candy or roses would be forgotten. The toaster-stove is more than a treat—it is an efficient little cooker that a woman is sure to make use of many times a day. She likes to use it, because with it she can sit down and cook at the table and doesn't have to bother with the kitchen. Then for breakfast! It gives every member of the family exactly the kind of toast he wants—hot and crisp. Wouldn't it make a nice Christmas present? ($6.00.)

Other suggestions: electric iron, sewing machine motor, general utility motor, disc stove, heating pad, luminous radiator, air heater, chafing dish. See them before making up your list.
